

4. Future Releases

This document has described the design of ECS subsystems for the PO.DAAC ECS at Release B. Two other releases are currently planned. The next release, Release C, is scheduled for December 1999. The Release Plan Content Description for the ECS Project describes in detail the capabilities being provided in Releases C and D. An updated version of this document will precede Release C and will reflect the design corresponding to that release.

This page intentionally left blank.